

PRESS RELEASE

Saleri Aftermarket: reliable and comprehensive product ranges with the SIL and Ruville brands

Sesto Fiorentino (Florence), 29 April 2026 – With over eighty years of OE expertise, Saleri Aftermarket – the Italian trading company dedicated to the Independent Aftermarket and part of the Saleri Group – provides distributors and repair shops with OE-equivalent quality and a wide product range under the SIL and Ruville brands. Its portfolio includes water pumps, timing belt kits with and without water pumps, tensioners and overrunning pulleys, timing chain kits, poly-v belt kits, wheel bearing kits and crankshaft pulleys. In total, more than 8,000 items designed to meet the needs of the IAM market.

Saleri Aftermarket offers an extensive lineup of timing belt kits, with and without water pump, which meet the full range of customer requirements by offering more than 700 items. These kits are designed to simplify maintenance operations and reduce the risk of errors. Saleri Aftermarket designs and develops these kits, perfectly integrating each component to ensure a reliable and durable solution.

OE-equivalent quality in the areas of technology and performance is what sets Saleri Aftermarket's products apart. These include Saleri's Aftermarket water pumps, marketed under SIL, the historical Saleri brand with more than eighty years of experience in the OE sector. The range includes more than 1,200 items, including mechanical, variable and electric water pumps that cover 98% of European market demand.

The company also manufactures a comprehensive range of tensioners and overrunning pulleys that offers more than 2,800 items representing quality, reliability and solid performance, in one of the most complete offerings in the IAM line-up.

With its poly-V belt kits line, Saleri Aftermarket provides all the necessary components for a complete solution that ensures significant time and cost savings through precise and timely service application.

As many carmakers have returned to chain-driven timing on their modern engines, Saleri Aftermarket offers a broad selection of timing chain kits, featuring: self-lubricating holes and high-quality structural carbon steel components. These are offered in complete kits, with sprockets, tensioners, gaskets and guides. VVT phasers and oil control valves are supplied where required by OES specifications.

Alongside its extensive product range and commitment to OE-equivalent quality, Saleri Aftermarket is strengthening its marketing organisation with the appointment of Stefano Monteleone as its new Strategy Marketing Manager. In this role, Monteleone will lead the company's marketing strategy and reinforce the positioning of the SIL and Ruville brands. "The aftermarket is constantly evolving and requires strategic vision and the ability to create value for customers," Monteleone stated. "The aim is to further strengthen Saleri Aftermarket and support its growth in international markets."
